

1911 Census based data

The 1911 Census was one of the information sources used to develop the profile of West Moors for the World War 1 centenary project. This was the first census where householders wrote their own details. The date of the census was Sunday 2nd April 1911. The distribution and collection of the census forms was conducted by one individual called the enumerator who, for West Moors, was a resident named Walter Stephen Stickland.

As part of his duties Mr Stickland had to write into a separate, "Enumerator's Book", other details including the boundaries of West Moors at that time, the types of buildings and homes in the village and whether or not those building and homes were inhabited.

The information in the following pages is largely a combination of that derived from the census forms and the Enumerator's book, although there is additional information from various other sources.

Please note that the first name of each household is considered the head of the household and all relationships stated are to that person.
